CONSULTATION QUESTIONS

1. How important do you think it is that we aim to be a Good Food Nation?

Comments

2. How would we know when we had got there? What would success look like?

Comments

3. Do you agree with the proposed vision? How would you improve it?

Comments

4. How would your life be better? What does being a Good Food Nation mean in your locality?

Comments

5. Are there any other essential steps we need to take before setting out on this journey?

Comments

6. How do you think a Food Commission could best help?

Comments

7. In what areas should indicators be set to check we are on track towards our goals?

Comments

8. What are your views on the different approaches that could be taken to help us become a Good Food Nation?

Comments

9. Do you agree with the proposed initial focus on:
   - Food in the public sector
Dear Sir,

I do not see any clear re-affirmation of the previous commitment to avoid genetically modified crops in Scotland. A single harmful outcome from such crops could destroy Scotland as a Good Food Nation for many years. The use of non-GM food and farming is important for many of the aspects set out in the document such as food security, a healthy food supply, continued economic growth, and food exports.

Glasgow