Response to the consultation

I oppose these plans.

This proposal would build an ID card system in Scotland without democratic debate. This needs proper scrutiny by the Scottish Parliament, civil society and the public. Creating an ID database in Scotland puts everyone's privacy at risk. Far too many organisations will have access to data about us. The potential for misuse is high. Vulnerable people could be tracked.

Yours sincerely,