Executive Summary

The Care Act 2014 (“the Act”) was introduced in the House of Lords on 9 May 2013 and received Royal Assent on 14 May 2014. The Act creates a legislative basis for local authorities in England, Wales and Northern Ireland to make cross-border placements for those who require care in residential accommodation in Scotland. Equivalent provisions exist in Scottish, Welsh and Northern Irish legislation allowing authorities in those areas to make cross-border placements. These provisions will be supplemented further to allow local authorities to make cross-border placements comprising of accommodation with nursing care.

The Act is generally concerned with care and support matters in England and makes provision for:

- reforming the law in relation to care and support for adults;
- the law relating to support for carers;
- safeguarding adults from abuse or neglect;
- care standards;
- establish and make provision about Health Education England;
- establish and make provision about the Health Research Authority and for connected purposes to regulate assessments of the ethics of health and social care research.

The Act also extends to Scotland in three areas, namely:

- Cross-border placement arrangements;
- Dispute resolutions; and,
- Provider failure arrangements.

The Scottish Government has been working with administrations in England, Wales and Northern Ireland to enable cross-border placements. A legislative framework for cross border placements has now been agreed as part of the Act. This creates a clear and consistent approach across the whole of the UK in cross border placements, provider failure situations and dispute resolutions.

Draft regulations have been published to accompany the Act in collaboration with the devolved administrations to achieve consistency in this new framework. This framework contains overarching principles prescribing which authority has financial and operational responsibility for people who are subject to such cross-border placements. Schedule one of the Act sets out the general principles that the placing authority retains all of the duties which it would have had if the individual had remained in their area and the individual’s ordinary residence does not change.

Consultation on these regulations will run for ten weeks from 9 June – 18 August and will cover draft Regulations relating to cross-border placements, dispute resolutions and provider failure arrangements.

Consultation Paper

Introduction

Cross-border placements and dispute resolution

At present, there is currently no legislative basis for cross border placements for those who require care and accommodation. The Act creates a legislative basis for English local authorities to make cross-border placements for those who require care in residential accommodation in a devolved administration area. Equivalent provisions exist in Scottish, Welsh and Northern Irish legislation allowing authorities in those areas to make cross-border placements. These provisions will be supplemented further to allow local authorities to make cross-border placements comprising of accommodation with nursing care.

The policy intention of the cross-border placement arrangements is to ensure an appropriate division of financial and operational responsibility, where local authorities in one part of the United Kingdom place adults for whom they have a responsibility under legislation into residential care in another part of the United Kingdom. The Scottish Government has been working with devolved administrations to ensure that the framework achieves reciprocity.

To create a clear and consistent framework Schedule one also contains dispute resolution provisions that logically provides a mechanism to appoint the Scottish Minister, Secretary of State, Welsh Minister or NI Department should a dispute arise between local authorities in a cross border placement.

Provider Failure arrangements

Clauses 48 – 52 of the Act introduces the temporary duties that apply to Local authorities in England, Northern Ireland and Wales in provider failure situations to meet the needs of people in its area where a care provider is unable to carry on meeting those needs. In Scotland, Section 12 of the Social Work (Scotland) Act 1968 (" the 1968 Act") already places a duty on Scottish local authorities to provide or arrange care for any individual in their area who requires assistance in an emergency. The drafted regulations clarify the existing duties that are provoked to meet the needs of people whose needs were being met in their areas under arrangements made by an authority in England, Wales or Northern Ireland, where a care provider operating in Scotland can no longer continue to function due to business failure. The drafted regulations define business failure with reference to the different types of insolvency situations such as bankruptcy or entering into administration.

The rationale for the provider failure regulations is to ensure that the circumstances constituting provider failure in cross border cases is consistent with those already recognised in the context of intra Scottish placements.

The provisions of the Act will come into force in April 2015. The four administrations have worked together to agree the principles set out in Schedule One

The Care and Support (Cross-border Placements and Provider Failure: Temporary Duty) (Dispute Resolution) Regulations 2014

Regulation 1

The definitions of terms that apply in the cross-border placement arrangements can be found here. The meaning of “accommodation” is based on the definition in paragraph 12 of Schedule 1 of the Act. “Accommodation in Scotland” means residential accommodation in Scotland of a type which may be provided under or by virtue of section 12 or 13A of the 1968 Act, or section 25 of the Mental Health (Care and Treatment) (Scotland) Act 2003, but not of a type specified in regulations under this paragraph.

Regulation 1(5)

This is aimed at capturing the terms in which a dispute would be expressed. Disputes have been captured in these regulations to cover situations that would consist of an assertion that another local authority is or was liable to meet needs or is or was liable to pay the costs of meeting those needs. As regards the latter, in a cross-border provider failure case, different authorities would be liable to meet needs and costs respectively so a dispute may arise in relation to costs without also being about liability.

Regulations 2 and 3

Regulation 2 and 3 details the generic scenarios taking into consideration the individual’s physical location to conclude whether the Secretary of State, Scottish Minister, Welsh Minister or NI Department should determine the dispute. Regulation 3 introduces the Lead authority definition.

Regulation 4

This sets the process for referrals and demands co-operation from all involved parties to resolve the dispute as expediently as possible.

Regulation 5

It is explicit that the individual’s care needs should not be interrupted whilst a dispute is being resolved. As such it is the local authorities responsibility to ensure that there is a continuity of care.

Regulation 6

Local authorities must ensure that these steps are satisfied prior to making a referral. Each step is essential for the referral to take place and provides further opportunities to resolve the dispute.

Regulation 7

This regulation clearly sets out the lead authority’s role in the dispute resolution process.

Regulation 8

Local authorities have a period of four months to resolve the dispute and if they are unable to resolve the dispute it must be referred for a determination.

The Care and Support (Cross-border Placements) (Business Failure [Duties]) (Scotland) Regulations 2014

Regulation 3

This regulation defines when the local authority where the individual is physically present should be provoked in a provider failure situation due to financial difficulties.

Regulation 4

Provider failure situations are defined here in detail to clearly set this regulation for financial failure only.

Regulation 5

This regulation details the duties of the 1968 Act that apply in a provider failure situation, including homecare needs that would need to be met in provider failure cases. Also this regulation includes residential care only without nursing care.

The Scottish Government Consultation Process

Consultation is an essential and important aspect of Scottish Government working methods. Given the wide-ranging areas of work of the Scottish Government, there are many varied types of consultation. However, in general, Scottish Government consultation exercises aim to provide opportunities for all those who wish to express their opinions on a proposed area of work to do so in ways which will inform and enhance that work.

The Scottish Government encourages consultation that is thorough, effective and appropriate to the issue under consideration and the nature of the target audience. Consultation exercises take account of a wide range of factors, and no two exercises are likely to be the same.

Typically Scottish Government consultations involve a written paper inviting answers to specific questions or more general views about the material presented. Written papers are distributed to organisations and individuals with an interest in the issue, and they are also placed on the Scottish Government web site enabling a wider audience to access the paper and submit their responses. Consultation exercises may also involve seeking views in a number of different ways, such as through public meetings, focus groups or questionnaire exercises. Copies of all the written responses received to a consultation exercise (except those where the individual or organisation requested confidentiality) are placed in the Scottish Government Library at Saughton House, Edinburgh (K Spur, Saughton House, Broomhouse Drive, Edinburgh, EH11 3XD, telephone 0131 244 4565).

All Scottish Government consultation papers and related publications (eg, analysis of response reports) can be accessed at: Scottish Government consultations (<http://www.scotland.gov.uk/consultations>).

The views and suggestions detailed in consultation responses are analysed and used as part of the decision making process, along with a range of other available information and evidence. Depending on the nature of the consultation exercise the responses received may:

- Indicate the need for policy development or review
- Inform the development of a particular policy
- Help decisions to be made between alternative policy proposals
- Be used to finalise legislation before it is implemented.

Final decisions on the issues under consideration will also take account of a range of other factors, including other available information and research evidence.

While details of particular circumstances described in a response to a consultation exercise may usefully inform the policy process, consultation exercises cannot address individual concerns and comments, which should be directed to the relevant public body.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

Schedule 1 to the Care Act 2014 (“the Act”) makes provision to ensure that where a local authority in England, Wales or Scotland, or a Health and Social Care trust in Northern Ireland (“an HSC trust”) places an adult in residential accommodation in another of those territories, in general, this does not result in the transfer of that authority’s responsibility for that adult. The relevant provisions are to be found in paragraphs 1 to 4 of Schedule 1.

Sections 48 to 52 of the Act impose duties on local authorities in England and Wales, and on HSC trusts, to meet needs of individuals in circumstances where registered providers of care are unable to carry on because of business failure.

These Regulations make further provision in relation to the resolution of disputes between authorities about the application of paragraphs 1 to 4 of Schedule 1, or of sections 48 to 51 of the Act (save for disputes between English local authorities about the application of section 48 which are not dealt with in these Regulations).

Regulation 2 sets out who is to determine disputes. The effect of this is that where the adult or carer in question (“the relevant person”) is living (or, in a case where the adult is homeless, is physically present) in the same territory as that in which an authority which is party to a dispute is situated, the dispute is to be determined by the Responsible Person in relation to that authority. In other cases the dispute is to be determined by agreement between the persons who are Responsible Persons in relation to the authorities in dispute. The Responsible Person in relation to an authority is: in relation to a local authority in England, the Secretary of State, in relation to a local authority in Wales, the Welsh Ministers, in relation to a local authority in Scotland, the Schedule 2 to the Residential Homes Act 1980 (c.7), Part 1 of Schedule 10 to the Health and Social Services and Social Security Adjudications Act 1983 (c.41), section 42(7) of, and Schedule 10 to, the 1990 Act, paragraph 5(1) of Schedule 10 to the Local Government (Wales) Act 1994 (c.19), section 117(1) of the 1999 Act and paragraphs 33 and 34 of Schedule 1 to the National Health Service (Consequential Provisions) Act 2006 (c.43), and by S.I. 1968/1699, and is prospectively amended by section 45(6) of the 2002 Act. Section 45 has been repealed in relation to Scotland by section 14(4) of, and Part 1 of Schedule 9 to, the 1968 Act. The functions of the Secretary of State under section 45 were, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, transferred to the National Assembly for Wales by Schedule 1 to the National Assembly for Wales (Transfer of Functions) Order 1999 (S.I. 1999/672) (“the TOFO”). Functions of the National Assembly for Wales were transferred to the Welsh Ministers by section 162 of, and paragraph 30 of Schedule 11 to, the Government of Wales Act 2006 (c.32) (“the GOWA”).

- (a) 1983 c.20. Section 117 was amended by paragraph 107 of the Health Authorities Act 1995 (c.17), paragraph 12(17) of Schedule 4 to the Crime (Sentences) Act 1997 (c.43), paragraphs 42 and 47 of Schedule 2 to the National Health Service Reform and Health Care Professions Act 2002 (c.17), paragraphs 1 and 24 of Schedule 3 and Part 5 of Schedule 11 to the Mental Health Act 2007 (c.12), paragraph 3 of Schedule 1 to the Health Act 2009 (c.21), paragraph 15 of Schedule 1 to the Mental Health (Patients in the Community) Act 1995 (c.52), section 4 of the Health and Social Care Act 2012 (c.7), and by S.I. 2007/961. The functions of the Secretary of State under section 117 were, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, transferred to the National Assembly for Wales by Schedule 1 to the TOFO. Functions of the National Assembly for Wales were transferred to the Welsh Ministers by section 162 of, and paragraph 30 of Schedule 11 to, the GOWA.

Annex 1: The Care and Support (Cross-border Placements and Business Failure: Temporary Duty) (Dispute Resolution) Regulations 2014

Scottish Ministers and in relation to an HSC trust, the Department of Health, Social Services and Public Safety in Northern Ireland.

Regulation 3 sets out who the “lead authority” is for the purposes of duties imposed on such an authority under the Regulations. The lead authority is the authority in whose area the relevant person is living (or physically present) as at the date on which the dispute arises.

Regulation 4 imposes duties to be discharged by Responsible Persons upon receipt of a referral of a dispute. This includes a duty to consult other persons who are Responsible Persons in relation to the authorities in dispute when determining the dispute, and to send on a referral to the appropriate Responsible Person where this has not been sent to the correct Responsible Person.

Regulation 5 sets out duties on authorities in dispute in relation to the meeting of needs until a dispute is determined. This includes a requirement for the authority in whose area the person is living (or physically present) to meet an adult’s needs for accommodation in circumstances where no authority is meeting such needs as at the date on which the dispute arises. This does not affect the liability of that authority or any other authority for meeting those needs.

Regulation 6 sets out steps which authorities in dispute have to take before referring a dispute for determination.

Regulation 7 requires the lead authority to send a copy of the referral of a dispute to relevant Responsible Persons, and sets out what must or may be included with a referral. The documents to be included are a letter from the lead authority, a statement of facts and copies of relevant correspondence. The authorities may also submit supporting legal arguments. Where a dispute solely concerns the recovery of costs or a duty to co-operate, regulation 7 omits the requirement to submit certain information, and, in the case of a dispute solely concerning the recovery of costs, includes a requirement to submit information concerning the costs being sought to be recovered.

Regulation 8 sets out a duty to refer disputes if they cannot be resolved within a specified time.

Regulation 9 makes transitory provision in respect of the period before Part 4 of the Social Services and Well-being (Wales) Act 2014 is commenced.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

Schedule 1 to the Care Act 2014 makes provision to ensure that where a local authority in England, Wales or Scotland, or a Health and Social Care trust in Northern Ireland makes arrangements for the provision to an adult of residential accommodation in another of those territories, in general, this does not result in the transfer of that authority’s responsibility for that adult. The relevant provisions are to be found in paragraphs 1 to 4 of Schedule 1.

These Regulations make provision to specify circumstances in which in the case of arrangements for the provision of accommodation in Scotland, specified duties on Scottish local authorities under Part 2 of the Social Work (Scotland) Act 1968 (“the 1968 Act”) are nonetheless to apply in the case of the adult concerned.

Regulation 3 sets out that the circumstances are that the care provider with whom the arrangements have been made is unable to continue to provide the service in respect of which those arrangements have been made (this would be accommodation) and this inability arises by virtue of any of the circumstances set out in regulation 4. Those duties are to continue to be discharged for so long as the local authority considers necessary.

Regulation 5 sets out the duties under the 1968 Act which are to apply.

Annex 4: Consultation Questions

Cross-border placements

People in residential care may wish to move to a different territory of the UK from that in which they reside, for example, to be near their friends and family. The Act sets out certain principles which seek to support the notion of residential care placements by ensuring that, generally, where a local authority (or equivalent in Northern Ireland) places someone in residential care cross-border within the UK, it does not result in transfer of the authority's responsibility for the individual concerned.

The draft Care and Support (Cross-border Placements and Provider Failure: Temporary Duty) (Dispute Resolution) Regulations 2014, cover:

- Process for resolution of cross-border disputes that may arise between authorities about the general principles of non-transfer of responsibility;
- Process for resolution of cross-border disputes that may arise between authorities in relation to temporary duties to meet needs in the provider failure context.

Questions for consultation

1. Do the regulations provide for an effective dispute resolution procedure?

Provider Failure

The Act also requires the Regulations to define the meaning of "business failure". This has been done by referencing different types of insolvency in the Regulations e.g. the appointment of an administrator. These insolvency 'situations' will act as a trigger for local authorities in England and Wales, and equivalent in Northern Ireland to temporarily meet care and support needs where insolvency causes a care provider to become unable to do so.

Questions for consultation

1. We invite views on the approach to defining business failure by reference to insolvency situations.
2. We also invite views on the insolvency situations listed, e.g. are they appropriate and clear. Should other situations be covered?
