Additional Case Information:

Query raised whether business should be an APB. They had previously informed FHI that lobsters held on site were fed to increase weight therefore the business was registered as an APB. SG received an application from the business to access the Seafood Producers Resilience Fund and they sought confirmation that the business was eligible.

Spoke with new site manager by phone who thought lobsters were only held for a few days without feeding, but Director confirmed that lobsters fed to increase growth.

A site inspection will be arranged when site holding lobsters, but the business will remain as an APB at this time.

No report issued as no changes made to status of business and site will be inspected later in the year.
